

This figure displays a 10x10 heatmap visualization of the handwritten digit '4'. The background is a solid red color. The digit '4' is represented by a cluster of yellow and orange pixels, indicating higher intensity or activation. The highest intensity (brightest yellow) is concentrated in the center of the digit, particularly in the middle row and middle column. The intensity decreases as the pixels move away from the center, transitioning through orange to red.