

The heatmap shows a 10x10 grid of colored squares. The diagonal elements (from top-left to bottom-right) are bright yellow, indicating high values. The off-diagonal elements are dark red, indicating low values. The pattern suggests a block-diagonal structure with two main clusters of high values.